Description

Well-balanced water, of noble origin, medicinal mineral, originating from the subsoil of old granite that has a golden brightness and improves its crystal clear transparency, of a fine and pleasant texture. For the sixth year in a row, this water have achieved the maximum score (3 gold stars) at the Superior Taste Award, a prize given by the International Taste & Quality Institute (iTQi) of Brussels. This award recognizes the Superior Taste and excellence of our products and reaffirms our place as one of the best brands of mineral water in the world. As in previous editions, our natural mineral waters, both sparkling and still, earned the classification of "exceptional", which is only achieved with a score of over 90 points out of a possible 100. Our sparkling water garnered 94.1 points, surpassing other sparkling waters participating in the competition. A blind taste test was carried out to evaluate the products which were presented with no labels or commercial containers so that the brands could not be identified by the judges, thus ensuring objectivity. A total of 120 renowned chefs and sommeliers from the most prestigious culinary and sommelier associations in Europe are in charge of the tasting. At each edition there are different tasting experts. All of the members of the jury have been selected for their unanimously recognized talent in guides such as the Michelin or Gault&Millau. This edition boasted the participation of a total of 1250 products including beverages and food from 5 different continents. Only 20% earned the maximum score of three stars which rates the product as "exceptional". Our mineral water has become the top-rated water in the world, having achieved the maximum score given by the Superior Taste Award for six years running. Next year, if we earn this rating again, we will be granted the wellknown Diamond Taste Award. That would make us the first company in the world to have won this invaluable award as well. The International Taste & Quality Institute (iTQi) of Brussels is an independent organization made up of renowned chefs and sommeliers from many different countries. It was created for the purpose of analyzing, judging and promoting the best foods and beverages from all over the world. The Superior Taste Awards aim to distinguish the finest tastes and products.
